Goals
◆ The City desires to build a pedestrian trail in the public right-of-way. The trail will provide a nature walk in a forested area of Lake Forest Park.

History
◆ Currently, the site acts as an “unofficial” pedestrian trail. It is also used for utility maintenance access. The trail has been unkept in the past, infiltrated by invasive vegetation. The City hopes to promote establishment of native species.

Location
◆ The trail will begin at the end of NE 184th St and conclude at the Lake Forest Park Water District fence.
◆ The trail will follow McKinnon Creek—a tributary of Lyon Creek—which flows into Lake Washington.
